

CHECK OUT THE STORIES OF THE STORY PROJECT!

What are the stories of young people during the Covid19 pandemic?

What stumbling blocks have they experienced?

What do the stories teach us?

These and many more issues were tackled by the Story project during the past two years when the world was going through enormous difficulties and coping with the challenges caused by the Covid19 pandemic. Partners from four European countries – The Netherlands, Ireland, Italy, and Spain have been working together to create tools and new approaches to help young people become more resilient and enhance their creative potential.

STORYTELLERS' LEAGUE WORKSHOPS

In the beginning of the project young people were invited to participate in creative workshops and tell their stories about their experience during the pandemic and how they dealt with it. Various methods, such as physical and vocal warm-ups, theatre games, card games and visual materials were used to create more encouraging and confident environment.

Based on the experiences during the workshops a toolkit 'Storytellers' League' has been created that will help educators and youth workers to gain insight into current youth outreach methods.

YOUTH COMMUNITIES' VOICE

In seven short films young people with different backgrounds tell their stories about their challenges and experiences during the pandemic. The films are in Dutch, English, Italian and Spanish.

What the stories teach us (Portfolio with 5 stories)

Five young people from The Netherlands, Ireland, Italy and Spain tell the story about their difficulties and the ways they dealt with them during the pandemic. The stories tackle topics like equality, human rights, disparities, exclusion and wellbeing. After each story short conclusions, reflections and recommendations are given.
